

TOMATIN HIGHLAND SINGLE MALT SCOTCH WHISKY

{ PEDRO XIMENEZ WHISKY MEETS SHERRY EDITION }

An innovative collaboration between the multi award-winning Tomatin Highland Single Malt Scotch Whisky and world-class Bodegas Tradicion Jerez. The cask which once held the outstanding Pedro Ximenez Sherry included in this pack was sent to Tomatin Distillery in 2012, to be filled with whisky which had been maturing in Hogshead casks since 2002. The contents were bottled and we have the pleasure in presenting both the finished whisky and the final sherry in this limited edition of Whisky Meets Sherry. This whisky has a syrupy sweetness with an abundance of dried fruits and spices. It is creamy with warm notes of heather and oak, and a long, sweet finish.

Cask Type: Matured in Hogshead casks for the first 10 years then finished in the Bodegas Tradicion PX Sherry Butt

Cask No.: 36130

Distilled on: 18.1.2002

Transferred on: 17.9.2012

Bottled on: 23.2.2015

No. of Packs: 1500

Strength: 46% alc./vol. Non chill filtered

Price: RRP 99.99EUR per pack

BODEGAS TRADICION has winemaking roots in Jerez, Spain, dating back to 1650. Today, it aims to preserve traditions and keep its wines pure with extraordinary longevity, and is known as the boutique winery in the Sherry region. Their superior quality wines are all bottled by hand and in their natural state, showcasing true examples of their styles. The wines from Bodegas Tradicion are exclusive, rare and truly exceptional.

This wonderful PX sherry has been aged for 25 years on average and is very well balanced and sweet, but not cloying. Sun dried grapes create long-lasting fruit flavours; figs, raisins, dried apricots and plums, but also coffee and liquorice. This is a very complex and intense wine with a nice, long finish. This is a simply fantastic sherry.

TOMATIN

ESTD  1897

HIGHLAND SINGLE MALT
— SCOTCH WHISKY —

 BODEGAS TRADICION